The Newport Mercury,

PUBLISHED BY—

JOHN P. SANBORN,

182 THAMES STREET.

NEWPORT, R. I.

THE NEWPORT MERCURY was established in June, 1768, and is now in its one hundred and thirty-sixth year. It is the oldest newspaper in the Union, and, with less than half a dozen exceptions, the oldest printed in the English language. It is the largest weekly of fifty-five columns, sixteen inches long and sixteen wide, well selected miscellany and valuable news, and household departments.—Reaching to many households in this and other States, the United States given advertising is very valuable to the paper.

Two copies of Extra can always be obtained at the office of publication and at the various news rooms in the city.

Subscription copies sent free, and special terms given advertisers by addressing the publisher.

Societies Occupying Mercury Hall,

RECORD OF DEATHS.

David M. Coggeshall
David Moore Coggeshall, city treasurer of Newport for nearly a quarter of a century, died at his home on Ayer street. Thursday afternoon, after an illness of several months, although confined to his house only about six weeks. Mr. Coggeshall was born in Newport and early learned the cabinet makers trade, which he carried on for many years in company with his brother. In 1831 he purchased Mr. George C. Mason's interest in the Mercurey and for four years conducted the paper with the late F. A. Pratt. Mr. Coggeshall was elected to the office of Sheriff of Newport county in 1830, which office he held until 1831. He was elected City Treasurer December 18, 1840, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Stanton Peckham, and had been reelected each year without opposition to the present time. He leaves a widow, who was a daughter of the late Richard Shaw, one sister and three sons, Meares, John S., cashier of the Union National Bank, David M., Jr., for several years assistant in the treasurer's office, and William A., teller in the Union National Bank. His funeral will be solemnized at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow from his late residence and will be attended by St. John's Lodge of Masons of which he was one of the oldest members.

Abraham H. Tilley...

Mr. Abraham H. Tilley died at his residence, No. 2 Tilley avenue, Friday morning at the advanced age of 80 years. Mr. Tilley was a native of Newport and had lived in the house in which he died for more than half a century. He carried on farming and butchering until within the past few years. He was twice married, both wives being daughters of the late Arnold Barker of Middletown. His second wife, to whom he has been married fifty-one years, survives him. He leaves seven children, George, son of his first wife, and Mrs. George Nasen, Mrs. T. M. Souther, Mrs. John M. Popple, Mrs. John E. Chase, A. A. Tilley and Herbert C. Tilley, all offsprings of his second marriage. His funeral, which will be solemnized at half past two tomorrow afternoon from his late residence, will be attended by Rev. W. F. Arrington of the First Baptist church, of which the deceased was a life-long member. His sons and some in-laws will act as pall bearers.

Marley W. Pray.

Mr. Harley W. Pray died at his residence corner of Division and Mary streets on Saturday of last week, in the 78th year of his age. Mr. Pray, though a native of Connecticut, has for the past thirty years resided in Newport, being engaged with his brother, John C. Pray, in the jewelry business and being for many years keeper of the city clock. He was a member of St. Paul's Lodge of Masons. He leaves a widow only, his five children having died. Funeral services were held at his late residence on Monday afternoon, Rev. W. F. Arrington officiating. The remains were taken to North Soituate, Mass., for burial on Tuesday.

Benjamin Hazard.

Mr. Benjamin Hazard, a well known citizen of Newport, died at his residence on Bellevue avenue Sunday evening, after a long illness. Mr. Hazard was the son of the late Thomas G. and the late Patience Hazard. He was in the 74th year of his age and had been twice married. His first wife was a daughter of the late Eben and the late Phoebe Davenport, of this city, and his second, who survives him, was Miss Reynolds of New Bedford. His funeral was solemnized from his late residence Thursday afternoon, Rev. Miss Reeve of Providence, conducting the services in accordance with the Friends' ritual, and Messrs. John Hazard of this city, Frank Hazard and William Hazard of Providence, and Henry Wells of Fall River, all nephews of the deceased, acted as pall bearers.

Wilks-Peckham.

Owing to the recent death of the bride's mother and sister, the wedding of Miss Ellen Talbot Peckham, daughter of the late Wm. G. Peckham, and Mr. Harry G. Wilks, on Saturday of last week was a very quiet affair. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Cutler at Channing church at 7 o'clock in the evening in the presence of only the immediate families and intimate friends of the bride and groom. There were neither bridesmaids nor attendants, the bride being given away by her brother, Mr. William G. Peckham of New York. Mr. and Mrs. Wilks left on the same evening for a wedding tour, which will include visits to Chicago, the World's Fair, and the bride's brother, Mr. Archibald Peckham, in West Superior, Wis.

A feature of the programme of the choral evensong at Trinity church on November 5 will be the rendition of Garrett's "Harvest Cantata," which the choir of the church are now rehearsing under the direction of Mr. Irving F. Irons.

Rev. Geo. W. Cutler of the Channing Memorial church, will lecture before the Unity Club at its public meeting next Tuesday evening.

Mrs. H. B. Gandy, Mrs. John Gilpin and Miss Gilpin are enjoying the sights at the Great White City.

Work on the new gun cotton factory at the Torpedo Station is progressing rapidly.

Miss Minnie Saulpaugh is visiting friends in Providence.

OUR STATE FARM.

The General Assembly Makes Its Annual Visitation.

Over 600 Acres of Land, Elegant Buildings, Thorough Equipment, Able Management—Nearly 1800 Inmates.

The Governor and Members of the General Assembly made their annual visit to the State Institutions, at Cranston, Wednesday, and were accompanied by a large number of invited guests from all parts of the State. Upward of twenty went from Newport and vicinity, joining the rest of the party, which numbered over a hundred, in Providence. At 8:20 the party took the train for the Sockanawest Station where they were met by seven four-horse drays, and a two-horse carriage for Governor Brown and Chairman Coggeshall of the State Board. These teams were quickly filled and started up the rising ground to the Sockanawest School for Boys by a brass band and a military company composed entirely of lumates of the school. Here the party left the carriages and on the spacious parade ground witnessed a military drill that would have done credit to a regiment of regulars at Fort Adams. Four companies, aggregating about 200 men of various sizes and ages, passed in review. They were put through company and battalion drill, the manual of arms, etc., and showed marked proficiency in every movement, while the band, with its little wail of a drum major, rendered excellent music.

After this pleasing ceremony, the visitors were taken through the buildings devoted to the use, at present, of 225 boys. Here no departments fully equipped for all kinds of useful instruction such as carpentering, blacksmithing, masonry, tailoring, shoemaking, printing, etc.

After an hour's inspection here, the drags were taken for the Oaklawn School for Girls. This school has at present 23 inmates who are taught kitchen, laundry, sewing and hall work, besides being given regular school instruction three hours each day. Each inmate has a room to herself and is compelled to take full care of that room.

An interesting feature of the visit at this school was an excellently rendered programme of vocal and instrumental music by the pupils. The singing of some of these girls was superior, as were also their performances upon the piano. Everywhere throughout the building were displayed specimens of the girls' handiwork which attracted much attention as evidences of industry and skill.

The next place visited was the State Prison and Providence County Jail, for which the carriages were taken at 11:30. The prisoners were just passing in to dinner as the party arrived. Later they were seen at their noonday meal and after that at their respective places in the different workshops, where old acquaintances were recognized and greeted. In this institution are 150 state men and 297 jail men, total of 427, and their assembly at dinner presents a sad-sounding sight. Some of the more noted characters—such as Spiker Murphy, a participant in the recent attempt at revolt, and Ryan, who also made a desperate but unsuccessful attempt for liberty—did not occupy seats at table. Both were in solitary confinement, the latter being in the dangerous collar. A feature of this institution that interested the legislators was the lack of accommodation. The jail has only 120 cells, while its inmates at present number 207, and the same number of cells in the prison have to accommodate 150 men.

The party next visited the State Prison and Providence County Jail for women and the House of Correction. In the latter are 101 men and 61 women. In the jail are 24 women and in the Prison one—Kate Judd. It was 1 o'clock when this building was reached and the first act on the part of the visitors was to accept with alacrity an invitation to "lunch." It was a substantial meal and the rapidity with which the several dishes had to be replenished evidenced its excellent quality.

From the institution the visitors were taken through the State Asylum for the Insane and the New State Almshouse, but it was a saddening experience such as could only find relief in the evidence of comfort and attention bestowed upon the unfortunate. The insane department alone has 578 inmates. While going through the building a brief rest was made in the tastefully fitted-up chapel, and interesting remarks upon the institution and its management were made by Superintendent Eastman, Agent Wightman, Dr. Keene, Chairman Coggeshall and Chaplain Nutting. During the talk considerable was said regarding the benefit, in the care of the moderately insane, of music and the needs of a pipe organ for the chapel, and $200 were subscribed then and there, the Governor being one of four to give $50.

It was quite late when the party emerged from the almshouse and many of the visitors were compelled to forego what is at all times an interesting feature of a visit to the State Institutions—a trip through the State Farm buildings, and at about 4:40 the Newport visitors started for the Apponaug station in two small drags in charge of the courteous chairman of the Board of State Charities and Corrections, Hon. Thom. A. Coggeshall of this city. They arrived home by the Wickford boat at 7 o'clock, highly pleased with the day's trip and thoroughly convinced that Rhode Island's State Institutions are second to none in the country.

TWO FIRES.

Sunday morning at about 3:30 o'clock an alarm of fire was rung in from box 61 and almost as soon as that stopped ringing an alarm was sounded from box 32. It seems that Officer Eckhart from his boat on Holland street and Officer Dewick from his boat on Oyster Point both saw the blaze and each dashed to the nearest box to sound the alarm. That pulled by the first named officer, 61 on the No. 0 engine house, rung first and immediately after box 32 at Hazards Avenue was struck by Officer Dewick. The fire was in the barn on Hazards Avenue which had been leased by Mr. W. Watts Sherman for a number of years and caught from a stack of straw which, undoubtedly, was set on fire. One horse was gotten out by the master who slept in the barn and who was barely able to get out and was barely able to get out and was barely able to have only a horse and the very limited amount of wearing apparel in which he stood. The barn was completely destroyed, as were also a stack of straw, three stacks of hay, three valuable horses, some fancy poultry and a number of sheep.

Tuesday morning shortly after 6 o'clock an alarm from box 12 called the department to the house on Main street, belonging to the estate of the late George Babcock Hazard and occupied by three families. The fire was discovered by Mr. John Bailester, junior of the Poitier school house, who notified Mr. R. P. Hamilton and he rang the alarm. Streams from three of the roofs soon extinguished the fire, which caught from a defective flue in one of the chimneys, and first appeared in the attic, but not before it had burned a large hole in the roof of the building. The water did considerable damage to both house and contents, on neither of which was there any insurance.

25TH ANNIVERSARY.

The Ancient Order of United Workmen will celebrate the 25th anniversary of the founding of the Order at Providence on Wednesday evening of next week. The entertainment, which will consist of a concert by the American Band and addressed by Supreme Recorder Sacket of Pennsylvania, and Supreme Overseer Riggs of Kansas, will be free to members of the Order and their families and friends. Ocean Lodge of this city has appointed Geo. H. Popple, H. A. Scoville, George S. Bowen, Robert Wetherell and Abbott Chandler a committee to make arrangements for the attendance of the local branch of the Order. They have chartered steamer Danielson, which will leave here at 6 o'clock p. m. Wednesday and it is hoped that a large delegation from this city will attend the exercises.

IN MEMORIAM.

A handsome tablet of wood has been put up in the Jewish Synagogue in memory of the late Rabbi A. P. Mendes. The tablet was carved by a member of the congregation, Jacob Sevadri, who is a native of Florence, where he learned the art of wood carving. It bears the following inscription:

"And God said unto Abraham and he said, 'here I am.' In memoriam of Rabbi Abraham Pareira Mendes. Born in Kingston, Jamaica, on Rosh Hashesh Adar 5555, 16th Feb., 1825. Died in the city of New York 18th of Nisan, 5633, 4th April, 1853. May his soul rest in peace, Amen. Erected by the members of the Congregation Jesuit Israel, as a tribute of his great worth and sterling qualities. Isaac Levy, President; Eugenia Schreier, vice-president; Max Levy, secretary and treasurer."

Fishing smack Laura Louise, on her way from this port to Block Island Monday morning, was run into and sunk off Point Judith by the four-masted schooner Bayard Barres, from Newport, N. H., bound for Providence. No one was drowned, although the five men aboard had a narrow escape.

The evening schools will open at the Clarke street building for the winter on Monday evening, October 20, and will be open on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings of each week from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock. The terms will be the same as before and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance.

The members of the Bricklayers and Masons' Union are making great preparations for their sixth annual ball, which takes place at Old Fellow's Hall on the 30th inst.

Moors E. S. Burdick, L. H. Peckham and Russell Allan are among the New-ports at the Fair.

It was quite late when the party emerged from the almshouse and many of the visitors were compelled to forego

NEXT WEDNESDAY'S ELECTION.

Party Candidates for the Various Offices to be Filled.

The municipal campaign has finally opened. A little late, perhaps, considering that next Wednesday is the day on which the election must be held, but if so, it is because of the difficulty encountered by both parties in getting their candidates. Several of the nominees on both sides declined to accept the honors thrust upon them; and it was not until Tuesday night that all the places on the ticket had been filled.

The two great parties held their only conventions last week Friday night, but neither nominated, both adjourning to the next night, which was the last allowed by law.

Saturday evening the Democrats succeeded without apparent difficulty, but the Republicans were still at a loss for an available candidate for mayor and just before midnight nominated Hon. John Hale Powell without first being able to ascertain whether he would accept or not. That gentleman, as had been very much feared would be the case, declined, and Monday night, after repeated declinations, Mr. Sanborn decided to accept rather than let the nomination go by default. The tickets so finally made up are as follows:

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 21, '93.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Our City Election will take place next Wednesday. Let no good citizen forget the fact or the importance of casting his vote in accordance with his best judgment.

The results of the storm of Friday and Saturday of last week on the great lakes foot up fifty-eight lives lost and a property loss of $105,000. No such list of disasters has been known since the storm of October 16, 1880.

Department Commander George T. Craoston, of Wickford, who has been dangerously ill the past week is much better and his many friends in this vicinity will be pleased to learn that his complete restoration to health is confidently looked for.

Remember, when you cast your vote on Wednesday next for mayor and members of the City Council, that the successful candidates for these positions will have the selection of next year's City Clerk, City Solicitor, and other important city officers, and make no mistake.

Every good citizen of Newport will have an important duty to perform next Wednesday. If he is not quite satisfied with this year's administration, let him recall some of the leading incidents of last year's reckless management and then vote for the candidates who he believes will give the city the best government.

Is the MERCURY office the headquarters of the police station, or is the bag being agitated? —[Newport Herald.]

Neither, neighbor. Your own "editor and business manager" has been in possession here most of the week, and it was his extreme agitation over what he read in our files that attracted the police.

We would respectfully suggest to the editor of our Democratic neighbor that the files of the MERCURY of about a decade ago contain matter that in our opinion would prove far more interesting to his readers than anything he has yet found regarding the Casino. But during his two days' occupancy of our office he undoubtedly read the files for 20 years back, and of course he knows what is best suited to his columns.

The two candidates for the mayoralty this year are Mr. Daniel B. Fearing, Democrat, and Mr. John P. Sanborn, Republican. Each has been the choice of his party for positions of trust and honor before, and each has been honored by an approval at the polls. Mr. Fearing is a gentleman of leisure, being possessed of large means inherited from his father. Mr. Sanborn is the publisher of this paper and has been actively engaged in and closely identified with the business interests of the city for twenty odd years. Neither needs any introduction to his fellow citizens.

We noticed in the Newport Herald of Thursday morning that, with the exception of three small items, the entire editorial space was devoted to the views on the Sunday closing law held more than ten years ago by the present Republican candidate for Mayor. We wish to thank the management of the Herald for this large amount of valuable space which the article in question occupies in their paper and at the same time we would thank them for the two days of their society which we enjoyed while they were searching the files of the MERCURY for the material with which to prepare that editorial. Come again, neighbor, you will always be welcome to our opinions, whether expressed by word of mouth or in the columns of the MERCURY, whose files will ever be open to you and our editorial room will always bear your name whenever you wish to write another editorial within its precincts.

A Good Ticket.

The Republicans seem to have been fortunate this year in the selection of their ticket as a whole and if it should be elected, as most of it undoubtedly will, our next city government will have the confidence of all.

Mr. John S. Coggeshall, the nominee for city treasurer, has filled the position of cashier of the Union National Bank for many years, and during the illness of his father, the city treasurer for so many years, he has had a general oversight of the office and is thoroughly familiar with its every detail. He is therefore not only competent in every respect for the position but is thoroughly acquainted with all its duties.

The party nominees for school committee—Messrs. John H. Cozzens, Geo. Gordon King, Angus McLeod, and Wm. F. Sheffield, Jr.,—have all, with one exception, served on the Board already and with credit to themselves and profit to the city, two of them having filled the position of chairman of the Board. They are all gentlemen of highest character and fitness and worthy the support of every citizen.

For the City Council the First Ward Republicans have put in nomination such well known men as Mr. B. Hammatt Stevens for Alderman, and Messrs. Thomas J. Stoddard, William P. Carr and R. P. Hamilton for Common Councilmen. Mr. Stevens, who heads the ticket, has been familiar with city affairs for a great many years, having been in the past well called to different positions of trust in and under the city government, and is a member of the present Common Council. He will be found a worthy successor to the present and efficient incumbent, Mr. William Hamilton. Messrs. Stoddard and Carr are also members of this year's council and have filled the same positions for several years with credit alike to themselves and their constituents. Mr. Hamilton, the only new man upon the ticket, is a prominent grocer at the Point and is well known in business circles throughout the city.

The Second Ward, Mr. Barn J. Barker having declined a re-election to the upper board, where he has rendered long and valued service, have selected as his successor, Mr. Abram A. Tilley, a life-long resident of the ward and one of its best known businessmen. The first councilman on the ticket is Mr. James H. Comstock, who has filled the position with marked ability for several years. For second and third councilmen on this ticket, now men have been selected, that is, new men to the city council, but both have long taken a deep interest in public affairs. Mr. Hon. F. Taylor the nominee for second place has long been identified with our fire department, having been foreman of the No. 7 Company and of the Hook and Ladder Company, and being a member of the present Board of Firewards. Mr. Francis S. Barker is at the head of the well known firm of Barker Bros., and has large business and property interests in the city.

The Third ward ticket contains but one new name, that of Mr. Goo. H. Wilber for third councilman, and he is by no means a stranger. He is a member of the firm of Wilber Bros., a thoroughgoing business man and a good citizen. The ticket is headed by Mr. Fred M. Hammatt, who, though he succeeds so ably and valuably a legislator as Alderman Sherman, will bring no discredit to the position. He has been an able representative of his ward in the Common Council for many years and is at the present time president of that body. Mr. Wm. C. Townsend and Mr. Godfrey Moffitt, the nominees for first and second places respectively, are simply being recalled to the positions which they are at present filling and which they have filled with marked ability for several years.

The Fourth ward ticket is headed by ex-Alderman Wm. O. Greene, a man of long experience who has often sat on the Board in years past, having been its president during one or two terms. He will be a valuable acquisition if elected. Mr. Robert Gash, the nominee for first councilman, is also a valuable man, long service in the council having fully established his worth. The nominees for second and third places, Messrs. Richard Gardner and Sheldon H. Curtis, are new men, but if elected can be relied upon to do their full duty ably and conscientiously. They represent the best interests of their ward.

The Republicans also present a ticket in the Fifth ward this year, which is something unusual owing to the overwhelming majority in the ward against them, and it is a good one. It is headed by Mr. Abraham T. Anthony, though there is no one better qualified to represent that ward. The Common Councilmen are Messrs. James McLeish, William W. Marvel and Edward E. Taylor, Jr., all men of standing and known ability.

Sound Argument.

The Democratic managers in Washington and throughout the land have brought this country almost to the verge of ruin. May lifelong members of the party and many staunch Democratic papers are beginning to show their disapproval of the inane acts of the leaders. One of the latest to come out and state its mind freely and candidly on the situation is the Holyoke Free Press, a staunch Democratic sheet of long standing. This paper is published in one of the large manufacturing cities of Massachusetts and its reasons, given in an editorial on Thursday, for a change of base, are irresistible. It says:

It is with the deepest regret that the Free Press acknowledges that it has lost faith in the Democratic party, and that it firmly believes that the present industrial stagnation, financial straits and general distress existing throughout the land is the result of Democratic supremacy.

Such a conclusion should not be reached, nor the statement be made without reasons. One year ago this country was enjoying a prosperity such as had never existed before. There was not an idle mill in Massachusetts. In this city there was not a water wheel that was not turning, not a spindle idle, not a loom that did not send its pleasant hum out on the breeze, not a paper engine or machine that stopped from Monday morning till Saturday night at midnight; all was life and activity in this, the greatest paper producing city of the world. There was not a large mill in the city of Holyoke that did not run over time. So great was the output of paper, cotton, woolen, silk and machinery that the railroads kept a double force of men at work with extra locomotives all night, as well as all day, handling the enormous output of manufactured goods that were being shipped to all parts of the known world. And this condition of affairs existed from sea to sea and from the Canadian line to Mexico. The whole world looked on and wondered at such prosperity. Such was the condition of affairs one year ago.

Last November Grover Cleveland, our noble President, was elected to the highest office in the gift of the American people. At the same time the Democratic party was put into control of the national House of Representatives and the Senate. The Free Press believed with a majority of the American people that the nation was destined, under Democratic control, to reach a still higher plane of prosperity, greater than even that of the year 1892.

The Democratic party has now had absolute control of the affairs of the nation for seven months, and the result—the most sorrowful time the nation ever saw. Business paralyzed, industries shut down, wages cut down, a financial panic, such a depression in the money market that banks after bank, houses after business houses, have had to close their doors, hundreds of thousands out of work.

A year ago every mill in this city was rushed with orders; they could not produce fast enough for the demand. Today there is scarcely a mill in the city that is running full time, and of the large mills there is but one that has not gone out of blast or cut wages 10 per cent. or more. A awful change for a year. This trifling condition of affairs appeals strongly to the American citizen who has a powerful weapon in his hand, the ballot. It was the ballot that brought about this great change from prosperity to poverty, from industrial activity to industrial stagnation, from financial ascendancy to financial depression.

The present industrial stagnation is without any doubt the result of the free trade plank that was inserted in the Democratic national platform of 1892. That platform denounced the protective tariff policy, under which the nation has grown and developed from a child to a giant, and declared that if the people intrusted the offices of the nation in its hands it would wipe out every trace of that policy. The people who vote that ticket did not believe that the platform would be carried out in the letter. They had faith in Grover Cleveland and other conservative men. But the last few months have shown that the President cannot control his party, and in his brave and uncompromising fight for the repeal of the Silver bill he is looking not to his party for support but to the Republicans who passed the bill, and who now stand shoulder to shoulder with the President in his noble fight for repeal. The absolute free trade has secured control of the Democratic party. They intend to make great alterations in the existing tariff laws. The manufacturer cannot stand still all full time, he can only fill his present orders. He dare not make goods for the future, for if the tariff is lowered on the goods he manufactures and the foreign-made goods are brought in direct competition with his, he must lower the price of his commodity. He cannot pay the present high scale of wages and compete with foreign goods made by poorly paid help.

WASHINGTON MATTERS.

A Distracted Party.—The Democratic Majority Much Troubled by the Senate Fight on Repeal Bill—Notes.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16, 1893.

Never was there a more distracted body of men than the democratic members of the Senate are at this writing. This distraction has existed more or less from the first day of the extra session, but the absurd ending of the test of physical endurance ordered by Mr. Cleveland in his childhood belief that a vote on the Voorhees unconditional repudiation bill could thereby be forced has made it worse than ever.

Consultation after consultation is held but they seem afraid to make a definite move. Some of them are afraid of their constituents, some of each other, some of Mr. Cleveland, and all of the Republicans. The physical endurance fight was won by the opponents of unconditional repudiation just as everybody knew it would be because of the inability of the repealers to keep a quorum continuously in the Senate, and the efforts to settle the matter by a compromise may fail because a majority of the Senate cannot or will not agree.

The distraction has also apparently reached the administration, which is beginning to wobble in a very suspicious manner. While Mr. Cleveland stands in the eye of Senator Younghusband in the extra session, but the absurd ending of the test of physical endurance ordered by Mr. Cleveland in his childhood belief that a vote on the Voorhees unconditional repudiation bill could thereby be forced has made it worse than ever.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Oct. 17.—The Bonde house on Second street, where the famous double murder was committed one year ago last August, was rented yesterday to W. B. Peckham, a grocer, and Lewis Hall, a livery stable keeper. The house was vacated in July and has been for sale ever since.

Held on Charge of Murder.

HARTFORD, Oct. 19.—Judge Barber has rendered his decision in the McKeown murder case. He found probable cause to hold Thomas J. Larkin and Thomas F. Ronke for trial at the December term of the superior court on the charge of murdering James McKeown on the night of Sept. 4.

ORIENTAL CRUELTY.

Practiced Upon Christians to an Alarming Extent.

Merchant Publicly Assassinated by a Mob—Killed Four Hundred Moslems from Infuriated Moslems.

N. Y., Oct. 20.—Foreign missions continue to send reports to headquarters in this city of awful cruelties practiced upon Christians in the Oriental countries.

The latest of these reports to Rev. Mr. Gillman, secretary of the American Bible Society, came yesterday, through a letter from Rev. W. L. Whipple, agent of that society in Persia. The letter was dated at Tabriz, Sept. 9, and contained a graphic account of the murder of an American Christian in Oromab, a short time before.

"There has been a grave state of affairs," says Mr. Whipple, "in Oromab since I wrote you last, an uprising of the Moslems against the Christians. There was a mob of Moslems led by theological students of the Mullahs against an American merchant, member of the Protestant church. They circulated a false report about him, and inflamed the rabble, until, finally, he was dragged from his shop and hurried off to the large mosque near by. He was severely beaten on the way. When they reached the mosque, some wanted to kill him at once, others tried to save him. He was given an opportunity of becoming a Mussulman, but this he said he would not do. He asked five minutes in which to pray and prepare for death.

Placed a Dog by His Side.

"While he was praying, some say, one Moslem stabbed him in the back with an dagger, the long Persian poniard. Then others stabbed him until he died. It is said that there were more than 400 stab wounds on his body. They then put a rope around his neck and dragged his body to the outer wall of the city and threw it into a ditch of stagnant water, a very foul place. They killed a dog and threw it in his side.

"There was great excitement, of course, all the day, and threats were freely made that now was the time to massacre all the Christians and their dogs in the city and thus put a stop to the proselyting. Several Nestorians and Armenians were severely beaten during the uprising and had to flee for their lives.

"The Christians are very much frightened, and some have fled to other places. There seems to be unusual animosity on the part of the Moslems against them. They say the Christians are getting rich and holding up their heads, and soon they will rise up and take their land and religion from them. It is a fact that the Christians are advancing in learning and wealth, but it is one of the results of the gospel."

In concluding his letter, Mr. Whipple speaks of the reported bad health of the Shah of Persia, and the likelihood of his death at no distant day. The present shah is more than 80 years old.

Acknowledged His Guilt.

BOSTON, Oct. 18.—Frank Arey, 28 years old, who has been looked upon for the past two years as one of the prominent young men of the Commonwealth, is in disgrace with the entente of $3000 from the B. & S. Sterkrar company, fan blower manufacturers. According to his own confession, his wrongdoings were the result of premeditation, and the manner of obtaining the money was ingenious enough to lead the company's auditors and the four other clerks, through whose hands the payroll passed.

A Missionary Slashed.

BOSTON, Oct. 16.—Rev. W. Houlton, who for some weeks past has been one of the leading lights of the Pitts street mission, was injured by a member of his congregation Saturday evening. He is now at the Massachusetts general hospital, and the physicians of that institution say that his recovery is doubtful. James McDermott, a native of England and a regular attendant at the mission, inflicted the wounds from which Mr. Houlton is suffering.

The weapon used was a large jack-knife.

A. A. BARKER,

HOW CARTER WENT TO THE FAIR.
As Men See It Is It, But As Mayor
As Men See It

The crowd was no respecter of persons. In fact, no less a personage than Carter H. Burleigh, Mayor of the City of Chicago, and descendant of Presidents, had a tough time in getting to the Fair. He started from his home on Ashland boulevard bright and early to take the Illinois Central to the Fair. He made fairy good progress until he reached Michigan avenue. To be sure he had diverse trials and tribulations with street cars and crowded streets, but it was at the foot of the Van Buren street viaduct that his厄运 really began. By virtue of a ill-fated use of his gorgeous gold Mayor's star which was pinned in a conspicuous place on his ample vest, he succeeded in making his way through the jam on the viaduct, but when he got to the chute leading to the Illinois Central express tracks that same gold badge was of no earthly account. Even the familiar plough hat had no effect on the crowd. It did not take the Mayor long to make up his mind that Mayor or no Mayor he couldn't get through that crowd to the express trains. But that Mayor is a man of resources. He went on east and at length reached the alleged Water Palace on the Lake-front. Here he was betwixt the devil and the deep sea. The express trains on the one side and the World's Fair steamboats on the other. In the Water Palace the Mayor paused long enough to get his breath and to take a bird's-eye view of the situation. He did not want to go by boat, and between him and the express tracks stood a picket fence, and the pickets were sharp too.

A careful consideration of the situation showed the Mayor that that picket fence was an obstacle to be surmounted by hook or crook. So he made his way down through the alleged Water Palace and across the track to the picket fence. With an agility which long experience in politics only could make possible he went at the fence. Reaching the rail at the top the Mayor drew himself to his full height and prepared to jump. At this critical moment in the fate of Chicago day he espied a bluecoat bearing down upon him at full speed. Ahead of the blue-coat came the following:

"Ah, there, you old skake, what are you doing on that fence? Get off of that fence or I'll run you in!"

"My friend," said the Mayor suavely, "I must get to the Fair, just as to ring the Liberty Bell. Chicago day will not go on without me."

"It makes no difference. You cannot get over that fence. Get back or I'll run you in."

Here the Mayor, finding that smooth words had no effect, drew himself proudly erect, showed his gold star, and said:

"Who has a better right on this fence?"

"That's different," said the "copper." "Put your hand on my shoulder and I'll help you over the fence."

The "copper" therupon walked up alongside the fence, offered his broad shoulder, and stood like a 200-pound rock. The Mayor placed his right hand on the man's shoulder, sprang lightly to the ground, rushed across the track, paid his due like anybody else, got on board the first express train, and got to the Fair in time to rescue Chicago day and ring the Columbian Liberty Bell.

"No," said the Mayor with a smile, "the future Mrs. Harrison did not come down with me this morning. She was feeling indisposed this morning and she directed the crowds on their way to the Fair to celebrate Chicago day. She may come down, however, with my daughter into this afternoon to see the strollers, but if she does I will have a carriage waiting for her to go home in, so that she will not have to fight her way through the crowd to get on an express train."

Snaps From All Sources.

Estimates of Your Neighbors.

Begins to be liberal in poor estimates of your neighbors. Credit them with sincerity, with good motives, with honesty, with liberality once in a while.

Their actions and their words may testify against them in spite of good intentions and better motives. Men are not always as bad as they seem.

Say a kindly word of others once in a while. Be liberal in your praise and in your commendation of others, even in speaking of your rival's in trade.

The grocer across the street keeps just as good butter as you do. All the fair dealing is not done in your store. Somebody else's milk is covered with cream once in a while as well as yours.

You and your family do not constitute the whole body of the Town's elect.

Some who subscribe not to your creed may yet reach the land of light. Be liberal to your judgments, for you are not quite fitted to be the universal judge.

Not being without in yourself to be careful where you throw stones. Do not keep on hand a stock of sneers and sneers. May your pocketbook and your tongue get converted, so that your soul may even yet assume a happy齐貌。

NEWPORT, R. I.

A Soldier's Prison Life.

Our captors did not allow us to set our newspapers, but happily we had a true Union lady lived next door to the jail, and in the evening, when all was quiet, she read the news aloud for our benefit. This lasted about a week, and then was reported to be discontinued by one of the guard. We were cut off from our evening readings, but soon one of the men (of course he was a Yankee) said, "Keep quiet, boys, and we'll have a paper and read it ourselves tonight." When it began to grow dark he tied a board-mail to a small string and threw it from the grated window into the Union lady's yard. In a few minutes he had a blue bag, baled in his hands, and dragging from the wall was the Charleston Mercury. After that went fishing every night, and always with success.

Some curious experiments were tried by those who were sufficiently daring to attempt to get to the Union lines, and sometimes these desperate movements met with success. One fellow who was acting as nurse told the men that if they would put him into a blanket and carry him to the deadhouse which was outside the guard, and nail him carelessly in a coffin,

he would take care of what followed.

Accordingly the thing was done, and the next morning the old dame whose task it was to carry away the corpses of those who had reached the end of their sufferings during the night, starte d with his load for a burial-place out side the city. When a safe distance had been reached, the nurse gave the coffin lid a kick and arose. The dame gave one frightened yell and fled toward

Richmond, while the dead man went on his way rejoicing. —[Blitz and Gray.

Got Em Mixed.

"A Hughable incident occurred here recently," said a well known hotel clerk. "It is customary in checking bundles and valises at the hotel stand to give a check to the guest and retain the other one on the straps. Well, the other day two valises nearly alike were checked.

Now, a check stand man makes an error sometimes, and gets the number of checks twisted around. He checked these particular valises during a rush, and excitedly gave the duplicate checks to the waiting guests. The result was a little buttermilk mixture in which the lady got the check belonging to the gentleman and vice versa. The baggage was taken up to the respective rooms. The young man, who is especially modest, was horrified on opening the valise he received. It contained by actual inventory a box of pink powder, a curling iron, some immodest linen, a veil, box of broad gauge hairpins, a glass.

A korean waiting over the transom of a neighboring room on the same floor demonstrated that the young lady had discovered the contents of the valise she received, which slightly belonged to the horrified young man. Its contents consisted of a bottle of McRoy's extract, a skeek of Hoyle, one Smith & Weston, one large stick of moustache wax, a paper of smoking tobacco, and a temperance essay. There was a wild rush for the check stand, mutual explanations followed, and the error was straightened out. But, say, it was so embarrassing, don't you know?"

"Oh!" gasped the other girl. "What did you say?"

"That's the funny part of it. He surprised me with the most seriousness, and answered, promptly: "If you want my Hair Vigor, and we attribute to it the dark hair which she and I now have, while hundreds of our acquaintances, ten or a dozen years younger than we, are either gray-headed, white, or bald. When we ask how our hair has retained its color and fullness, we reply, 'By the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor—nothing else.'"

"In '88, my affiance was nearly bald, and the hair kept falling out every day. I induced her to use Ayer's Hair Vigor, and very soon it not only checked any further loss of hair, but produced an entirely new growth, which has remained luxuriant and glossy to this day. I can recommend this preparation to all in need of a genuine hair-restorer. It is all that it is claimed to be!"—Antonio Alvarado, Bastrop, Tex.

"Well," continued the first girl, "I had two things on my mind that I dared not forget—a book I wanted very much and the purchase of a silk waist. So what did I do but walk into a book-store, go up to the first man clerk that I saw and ask: 'Do you know how much silk it takes to make a shirt waist?'"

"Oh!" gasped the other girl. "What did you say?"

Among the many "breaks" offered for exhibition at the World's Fair are a hen that always walks backwards, a Shetland pony that is so small that her shoes are made from $20 gold pieces, a raven that had been used by General Washington, an Indian ponyboy aged four years, who can recite "Thaumatis," and a garment 400 years old.

CORNER LOAFER.—Hut, officer, we promised to meet a gentleman on this corner and we should like to be permitted to stand here a little longer.

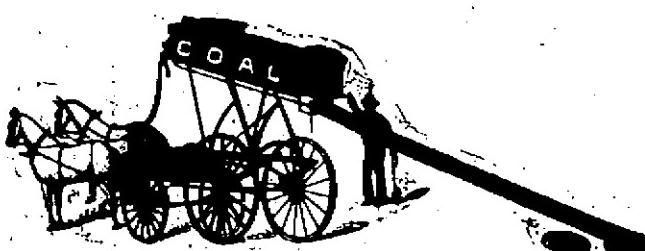

Officer O'Male—Don't listen to us, son. We've got strict orders to keep the corner clean, and if you want to make your friend here, you'll have to go somewhere else!

Post office great and wise things I might say do not themselves understand.

We have an excellent assortment of the best quality of

and this is the way we deliver it!

We have also HICKORY, OAK, SOUTHERN and EASTERN PINE WOOD prepared as desired.

COURT OF PROBATE.—The October session of the Court of Probate held on Monday had only the presence of three members, Messrs. A. Herbert Ward, James Anthony and Arthur L. Peckham. Mr. Isaac A. Sherman is still indisposed and Mr. Lionell H. Peabody not having then concluded his visit to the World's Fair.

No new matters were presented for the consideration of the Court and its attention was given to the examination of two accounts and three inventories, all of which were allowed and ordered recorded. These included the fourth and final account of Kate Bailey, Guardian of Herbert C. Bailey and an account of the estate of Augustus F. Sherman with the estate of Emma Lake, presented by Frederick Tompkins, administrator of said Augustus, and inventories of the personal estates of Emma Lake, Edgar W. Lewis and Benjamin F. Taggart.

In Town Council.—Only two bids were received for improving the section of the West Main Road lying south of Chase's Lane, one from William Thaxter for $1.75 per linear foot and one from James Corrigan for $1.71. The bid of Mr. Corrigan was accepted and he was awarded the contract to construct 74 feet of road in length, that exhausting the money apportioned to the West Main Road for building stone roads. Mr. Thaxter got the contract for improving the other piece extending up Buffum's Hill, which he has executed to a large extent. He has put in some substantial work on this job and it is generally conceded by the tax payers, that if he continues as he has begun, the town will get the full value of the money expended in this locality. Mr. Thaxter was granted an order on the Town Treasurer for $162.00, on account of his costs.

Samuel B. Dodge presented the petition of Isaac Lincoln Sherman, himself and thirty-eight others asking that State Hill be laid down and that part of the East Main Road extending from Portsmouth Line to the residence of Job M. Barker repaired by raising the road bed.

The Council thought this an unreasonable time of the year to raise the road bed as it would make mud for all winter. To this Mr. Dodge replied, that mud was preferable to water and ice. It was finally decided to grant the petition, and Lionel H. Peabody was appointed a committee to oversee and direct the undertaking.

The following named accounts were presented allowed and ordered paid from the town treasury: Nathan B. Brown for work repairing highways, $75.70; Joel Peckham for text books and supplies for schools, $109; Newport Mercury for printing tax-books and advertising, $85.15; Newport Daily News advertising road proposals $10.50; Newport Observer advertising road proposals, $10.50; Miscellaneous, $12. Total $804.45. $34 was ordered paid from the Freebody Fund for the relief of the poor and other on the dog fund for $11.20 was granted to Peter A. Underwood.

JAMESTOWN.

Extensive alterations are to be commenced next week upon the Gardner house. The house will be raised and a story built beneath. What is now the first story will, when the building is raised, be the second, and will be altered into commodious lodging rooms. From the plate on the front will raise to about forty feet in height a tall stone tower. When completed, the house will present a much improved appearance.

Conscient Council, (Royal Arcanum,) made an excursion to Wickford Wednesday evening, in company with Coronet

The Board of Aldermen.

The Board of Aldermen met on Saturday afternoon of last week to canvass the voting lists for the coming city election. A number of changes were made and further work continued until the final meeting, this afternoon. The following were appointed supervisors for the election next Wednesday:

First Ward—Republican—George S. Stoddard, Elizur M. Pike, George H. Freshwater, W. J. Christians, W. H. Corcoran, R. D. Parker, J. C. Tracy.

Second Ward—Republican—A. O. Goddard, J. T. Hay, H. T. Eaton, Democratic—J. A. Giff, J. H. Martin, J. A. L. A. T.

Third Ward—Democratic—T. Bowler, George H. Kirby, W. H. Miller, Democratic—W. H. Hall, B. U. Carr.

Fourth Ward—Republican—C. H. Clarke, W. P. Dixey, W. H. Hilton, Democratic—J. O. Euseck, E. E. Doherty, E. F. McCarthy.

Fifth Ward—Republican—J. J. Muller, W. H. Boyd, J. A. Cowles, Democratic—P. H. O'Neill, John Collier, Peter X. Martin.

The Board of Aldermen then assembled as a board of health to consider the report of Alderman Boyle, from the committee on the pest hospital. Mr. Boyle stated that Bishop Barkius, in accordance with the desire of the board, expressed at the last meeting, had fixed the rental of the property known as Eagle Crest, now occupied by the hospital, at $1,000 a year, for three years, with the privilege of purchase at a price about $20,000. A long debate followed, and it was finally decided to lease the property for one year at $1,000 and the old committee was continued.

Another Awful Railroad Disaster.

A wreck on the Grand Trunk occurred at Nichols, half a mile from Battle Creek, Mich., at 3 o'clock yesterday morning. A Raymond Whitcomb special from the World's Fair collided with No. 9 express going west. Three cars were burned. It is reported that twenty-five persons were killed or buried to death and fifty more injured, most of whom are said to have been long east of Niagara Falls, about evenly divided between New York State and Pennsylvania. The awful work of rescuing the dead and injured was not completed until 9 o'clock when the last body was taken from the wreck. Sufficient stretchers were not to be found, and the workers nailed boards together, on which the charred bodies were carried away as fast as they were extricated. So horribly burned and charred were the bodies lying in the impromptu morgue in a freight car that it is hardly possible that their names will ever be known. At 9 o'clock twenty-six dead bodies had been taken out of the ruins of the wrecked cars, and this is supposed to be the total number.

Autumnal Excursion To Boston.

On Tuesday next, Oct. 24th, the X. Y. N. H. & H. R. will run an excursion to Boston and return by special train to leave Newport at 9:15 A.M., stopping at all stations to Tiverton inclusive, for which round trip tickets will be sold at the low rate of $1.25 each.

This excursion will afford a splendid opportunity to "take in" the attractions of Boston under most favorable conditions of transit and at the minimum of expense.

Mr. Neill McLennan and Mr. Andrew Sutherland start tomorrow night for the World's Fair, this being Mr. Sutherland's second trip to view the wonders of the Exposition.

No Proof of Murder.

NORTH ATTLEBORO, Mass., Oct. 19.—The body of Patrick McCarthy was found in Whiting's pond in this town last spring, and it was supposed that he had been murdered and his body thrown into the pond. State Detective George Seaver and Sheriff Brown have reported to the court that it is impossible to find any evidence to make a charge of the crime of murder against anyone.

Five Medals Go to Haverhill.

HAVERHILL, Mass., Oct. 19.—Five of the Haverhill exhibitors at the World's Fair have been awarded medals. They are: Morse Bros., for Goodyear turned shoes for men, women and misses; Woodward & Howes, ladies' slippers; Hazel P. Goodrich & Co., men's and women's footwear; E. F. Holton, misses' and children's spring heels; Harold F. Blake, patent tips.

Verdict in Surprise.

RELFORD, Vt., Oct. 19.—The jury in the Gould case returned a verdict of guilty against Mrs. Loraine Gould for performing a criminal operation upon Miss Eva Shaw, which resulted in death. Mrs. Gould was remanded to jail. The trial of H. H. Pitkin for complicity in the crime will be begun soon. The verdict was a surprise.

Death of Mrs. Lucy Stone.

BOSTON, Oct. 19.—Mrs. Lucy Stone Blackwell died at 10:45 o'clock last night. Her death was not unexpected. For 38 hours she had been gradually sinking, and she expired without a struggle. Around her bed was gathered her immediate family. Her husband and one child, Alice Stone Blackwell, survive her.

IN CONGRESS.

Condensed Report of Proceedings in the Senate and House.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—The repeal bill was taken up as if nothing had happened to modify the situation. It is rumored that an agreement may be reached by Tuesday. The bill on the McCrary amendment to the Geary Chinese exclusion bill was continued in the house. A vote on the measure is to be taken Monday.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—There was a heated debate in the senate on the rights of the minority. Amendments to the rules were proposed. Jones continued the details against repeal. Voorhees stated, he would sit in continuous session as long as a quorum remained, and that the silver fight had just begun. The debate on the amendment to the Geary Chinese exclusion bill was continued in the house.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—The fight on the repeal of the silver bill was resumed in the senate. The house passed the McCrary amendment to Geary's Chinese exclusion law.
